FEEDBACK PROCESS

Feedback system assesses the gap between the expectation and delivery. We need to develop and enhance, in education feedback system aims for improving the eminence of quality of education. ASTHA School of Management collects feedback from almost all its stakeholders: students, teachers, employers and alumni.

The feedback is collected from various stakeholders and is used to analyze various aspects related to the curriculum, infrastructure, pedagogy and placement etc. Data is used for improvement. Further their suggestions are considered, submitted to the Academic Council for discussion, and decision making.

Students give feedback on the last day of class test II exams. Notifications are issued by the principal of the institute, after which students submit their feedback.
